

Personal trust services

Expertise and service from a team you can trust.

Plan to live life on your terms.

Ensuring the wealth that you have accumulated is used to provide for the individuals or causes you care about most is an important part of planning for a confident retirement. After accounting for your everyday essentials, lifestyle goals and unexpected expenses, the next step is creating a legacy plan. Effective legacy planning addresses two critical factors: control during retirement and leveraging specific solutions to avoid instances that can negatively impact your retirement plan.

Confident Retirement[®] approach

The Confident Retirement[®] approach is not indicative nor a guarantee of future financial results.

For you. For your retirement dreams. For generations to come.

You've spent a lifetime accumulating and managing assets. Trusts allow you to direct how those assets are managed during your working life, throughout your retirement years and after your death, helping you to leave the legacy you've envisioned. Trusts can also be valuable if you own property in multiple states, have life insurance to pass on to future generations or are concerned about privacy issues.

To establish a trust that fits with your entire financial plan or to move an existing trust, consider working with Ameriprise Bank, FSB (Bank). The personal trust services team will guide you and your Ameriprise financial advisor through the process and oversee your trust assets. The Bank will manage legal and administrative details, freeing you to enjoy the confident retirement you've planned and worked for.

"I need a partner I feel comfortable with to manage and oversee my trust."

"As a single parent, I don't have time to manage my finances, so my father arranged to have a trust created and administered by a local bank trustee. The income is a blessing, as it will be used to support my children's college education. But I'm concerned that the advice I'm getting doesn't tie into my family's financial goals. I'd feel more confident if my Ameriprise financial advisor was making the investment recommendations since he understands my family's financial needs."*

“Naming the Bank as trustee helped me maintain my family relationships.”

“I was the trustee for two family trusts, and the responsibility was overwhelming. The reporting and paperwork were time-consuming. I felt at odds with my siblings, since I was a beneficiary and the trustee. Now the Bank handles my trusts, which takes the stress out of my family relationships.”*

Move your trust to the firm you trust.

Remember, irrevocable does not mean immovable. We can help you transfer your current trust(s) to the Bank or work with your estate planning team as they establish a trust for you. Either way, your trust assets will be overseen by your financial advisor, someone who's familiar with your family's goals.

Meet with your financial advisor for a professional review of your current trust documents to determine the right trust strategy for you and your family.

“A trust helped me choose the right time to retire.”

“I’d planned on working a few more years, partly because I was worried about outliving my retirement savings and partly because I wanted to leave a legacy for my grandchildren. But my Ameriprise advisor, my estate-planning attorney and I worked together to come up with a trust plan that allowed me to retire on my terms and still provide for the people who matter most to me long after I’m gone.”*
